

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

March 28, 2012

Ms. Karen Keilt
Carefree, Arizona

Dear Karen:

Michelle and I extend our deepest thanks for your gift and for your moving letter.

Over the last decade, the progress made in Brazil has inspired the world, and hope is returning to places where fear had long prevailed. My Administration is committed to human rights as an essential element of American foreign policy. Through that commitment, we will help shut down torture chambers, replace tyranny with good governance, and stand with all peoples who reach for the dream of a freer, more just world.

Thank you again, and I wish you all the best.

Sincerely,
